

Simple Paper Chick Craft

What you need:

- yellow construction paper
- orange construction paper
- scissors or paper trimmer
- glue
- wiggle eyes stickers

Start by cutting strips of yellow construction paper. We have cut ours across the width of a A4/letter sized paper. The strips were as wide as a finger.

You will need 4 strips of paper for each little chick.

If you are working with younger kids you can make the strips of papers wider and only use two.

Older kids on the other hand can make thinner strips and use more.

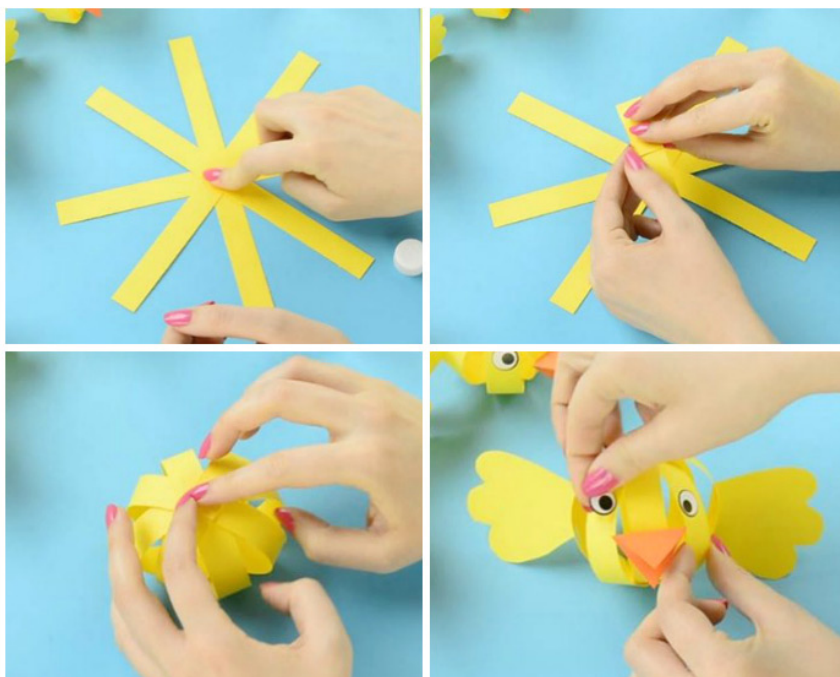

Gently fold the strips in half – do not crease.

This will make it easier to locate the middle.

Apply glue at the middle of one paper strip.

Glue another paper strip on the first one, making a cross.

Press down with finger for the glue to set.

Glue on two more strips of yellow construction paper.

You should see a snowflake like shape now.

Time to make the chick ball :).

Apply glue on one strip of paper (one end) and take the other end and glue them together, making a circle.

Repeat with all other strips of construction paper.

Once all strips are glued together a ball shape should form.

Cut two wings out of construction paper.

Glue the wings onto the ball. We glued them onto both sides of the same paper strip.

Fold a bit so the wings are nicely seen if you look the chick from the front.

Cut a beak shape out of orange construction paper.

Glue the beak on the paper ball.

Last but not least add two wiggle eye stickers or draw your own eyes with a marker.

Stickers are always a bit more fun though.
